U. S. PROMISES CANTONESE RECOGNITION

STATEMENT OFFERS TO ABANDON TREATY FOR NEW AGREEMENT

Will Negotiate With Any Faction Which Has Authority

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The Cantonese nationalist government can definitely hope for recognition by the United States as soon as it has brought the greater part of China under its control according to the interpretation placed here today on Secretary of State Kellogg's statement of American policy toward China.

Secretary Kellogg's announced willingness to "enter into negotiations with any government of China which can represent or speak for China" is considered especially significant. Added hope of recognition for the Cantonese is seen in the section which declares that "the United States has watched with sympathetic interest the nationalistic awakening of China and welcomes every advance made by the Chinese people toward reorganizing their system of government."

Aside from these allusions to the recently changed political situation, the memorandum concerns itself with a restatement of this government's desire for an unified, independent and prosperous Chinese nation and its willingness to release as early as possible the tariff control and extraterritoriality provided by treaties.

The United States can not, however, abrogate these treaties, the statement makes plain, but they "must be superseded by new treaties negotiated with somebody representing China and subsequently ratified by the United States. The only difficulty the state department sees in regard to the drawing up of new agreements is the inability to find someone in China, fairly representative of all the people, with whom to negotiate.

The British statement suggested that co-operation between the powers would be the only effective means of dealing with the Chinese problem. Kellogg ignored the British suggestion, although he left the door open to co-operation if such a method of procedure is desired by the Chinese.

Chen offered to protect the nationals of any government which would take steps in the immediate future looking toward treaty revision. Apparently in anticipation of such a move by the United States, Chen and his associates issued specific orders that Americans in territory under Cantonese control be given special protection.

Meanwhile the government takes an increasingly pessimistic view of the developments near Shanghai. A close censorship of official dispatches from China is being observed, while none of the instructions sent to Rear Admiral Williams, commander of the American fleet in Chinese waters, are being revealed.

This government is not particular, the memorandum suggests, as to whether it enters into negotiations with the Chinese alone or in concert with the other powers as England has requested.

Despite its readiness to discuss new treaties the United States will not unconditionally relinquish its extraterritorial rights. Such a step will not be taken until "China is prepared to provide protection by law and through her courts to American citizens, their rights and property."

COBB AND SPEAKER EXONERATED OF CHARGES BY BASEBALL CZAR LANDIS

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker today were exonerated by Commissioner K. M. Landis of any wrong doing in connection with charges brought by "Dutch" Leonard, and were restored to eligibility in organized baseball. Their names were restored to the rosters of the Detroit and Cleveland Clubs.

Leonard accused Cobb and Speaker, resigned managers of the Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians, respectively, of participating in a betting coup hinging around an alleged "thrown game" between their respective teams in September 1919.

"These players have not been found nor are they now guilty of 'framing' a ball game. By no decent system of justice could such finding be made. Therefore they are not placed on the ineligible list."

Both Cobb and Speaker, Landis revealed, voluntarily withdrew from baseball instead of being forced out, as the public supposed, because they did not desire to have a hearing at which their accuser, "Dutch" Leonard was absent.

"As they (Cobb and Speaker) desire to rescind their withdrawal from baseball, the releases which the Detroit and Cleveland clubs granted in the circumstances detailed above, are cancelled and the players names restored to the reserve list of their clubs," the decision read.

Both Cobb and Speaker were informed November 27 of last year by Judge Landis of Leonard's refusal to come to Chicago and personally confront them with his charges that they conspired September 25, 1919, to "throw" a ball game to Detroit, assuring that club of third place in the American League rase when it was certain Cleveland had captured second place.

"DOBBIN" STILL GOOD

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 27.—Motorization of milk delivery routes throughout Ohio will not be done as long as "Old Dobbin" is still abel to hobble around, according to H. F. Meyer, Cleveland, attending the Ohio Dairy Products Association's convention which closed here today.

"Old Dobbin still is the all-important factor in delivering milk," he said, "and experiments have proven that he is also the most economical means of carrying out the house-to-house delivery system."

EDITH HAS NO KICK COMING NOW

Edith Day, famed musical comedy actress, was granted a divorce from Pat Somerset, English actor, at her home in Minneapolis although she is acting in London. Somerset was the "other man" in her divorce from Carle Carlton, producer.

YOUTHS BLAMED FOR ROBBERY SERIES

MARION, O., Jan. 27.— Eight youths, ranging in age from fifteen to twenty years, have been arrested during the past two weeks and charged with more than twenty-five robberies, it was learned here today following the sentencing of two of their number. One was sent to Lancaster Industrial School, and the other to Mansfield reformatory, following their admission of robberies at two schools and a grocery.

AUTO SHOW OPENS WITH BANG! ENTERTAINMENT IS PLANNED

Forty-five Cars On Floor Thursday At Opening—Band, Orchestra And Miss Eleanor McDonnell On Program

Xenia's first automobile show, sponsored by the Automobile Dealers' Association, formally opened on E. Third St. at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon and if the models on display are a criterion of the 1927 types of new cars, American highways this summer will dazzle with the light of racing rainbows.

The shiny, new cars figuratively sing the song of the open road for color is the keynote of the exhibit. Record crowds are expected at the three-day exposition and dealers are brimming over with optimism that the first show of its kind ever held in Xenia will prove a crowning success and impress the public with the great advances being made in the auto industry today.

Eight dealers are displaying forty-five models of almost every popular car in common use and the exhibit represents an investment of nearly $60,000 in models alone. Many merchants also have accessories on exhibition.

The exposition will continue through Friday and Saturday in addition to Thursday night and will be open for inspection every day from 2 p. m. to 10 p. m. There is no charge for admission.

Final arrangements were being made Thursday morning by dealers in preparation for the grand opening. Practically every exhibit booth was completed and decorated and almost all the cars were in their alloted show places.

An interesting program of entertainment is being planned for Thursday evening. Probably the leading feature will be the forty-piece Cadet band of the O. S. and S. O. Home. In addition there will be another orchestra to provide music all evening. Miss Eleanor McDonnell, considered one of the most promising vocal artists in the city, will also render a number of song selections, the dealers' entertainment committee announces. Services of Miss McDonnell are always in demand. She is employed in the clerical department at the Greene County Auto Club.

ASKS AMERICANS TO DROP SUPERIORITY ATTITUDE IN TALK

"Lording" Over Other Nations Deplored Before Pastors

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 27.—A change in the attitude of "superiority" of Americans toward other nations was urged here in an address by Bishop Francis J. McConnell, of Pittsburgh, in an address before the Ohio Pastors' convention, which today was to hold its concluding session.

"Christianity has not yet gone so far that we have gotten rid of that feeling of superiority toward nearly all the nations of the world, and I am pleading for a change of attitude," said the bishop. He deprecated the "densely grave" pronouncements from Washington, and declared it is "absurd for the United States to bristle up with bayonets the way we do when we think some small nation has insulted our flag or offended our dignity." Our actions toward powerful nations, he said are "entirely different."

Myers Cooper, president of the Ohio Council of Churches, voiced a plea for correction of the conditions which have resulted in abandonment of more than 637 protestant churches in Ohio, due to "overchurched" communities.

MELLON ORDERS DRY CHIEFS TO AVOID UNLAWFUL ENFORCEMENT

Operation Of Government "Speakeasies" Causes Furore In Congress—Impeachments Threatened By Wet Leaders

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Aroused by the gathering storm of criticism in congress, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today ordered federal dry chiefs to avoid all unlawful methods in prohibition law enforcement.

Systems which establish the government in the illegal liquor business in order to ensnare violators are wrong in principle and hamper enforcement, Mellon declared.

Some evil practices have been carried on in the dry system, Mellon explained, because of the difficulty in a big organization in keeping all personnel within the bounds of propriety.

The searchlight thrown on the activities of prohibition's secret agents, revealing that they have operated government "speak-easies" to trap law violators, and that at least one federal judge co-operated with dry agents to trap violators whom he afterward sentenced from the bench, has created a furore in congress that threatened today to have far-reaching results.

The developments were these:

(1) A determined fight is to be made in the house to impeach Federal Judge Frank Cooper, northern district of New York, for his efforts in trapping rum runners whom he afterward sentenced.

(2) The treasury is considering the abolition, or at least the severe curtailment of the work of prohibition's "under cover" men.

(3) There were reports today that Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of enforcement, will again offer his resignation.

Gen. Andrews submitted his resignation last September, and was persuaded to withdraw it upon the assurance that congress would pass legislation at this session tightening up the law in places where Andrews considered it necessary. It is now apparent that congress will pass no prohibition legislation at this session, and Andrews is said by his friends to be "disgusted."

It was also recalled that Gen. Andrews said when he assumed the office a year and a half ago that if he did not make material progress in drying up the country in a year he would resign. Most observers believe the country is about as wet as ever.

Until the operations of official speakeasies were disclosed by newspapers and other private sources it was said that responsible treasury officials had little knowledge of the details of their operation.

Opponents of the system pointed out that several important cases against smugglers and bootleggers have broken down owing to the fact that government agents had themselves violated the law in order to catch offenders. Hereafter, it was said only methods will be used for which high treasury officials will be willing to take responsibility.

ST. GODDARD LEADS IN MUSHING RACE

THE PAS, Manitabo, Jan. 27.—Emil St. Goddard, French-Canadian musher, today was considered a certain winner of the tenth annual Pas dog derby race which will end here late this afternoon. St. Goddard yesterday repeated his performance of Tuesday by finishing first in the second day's racing, covering the forty mile lap in three hours fifty-seven minutes and twenty-one seconds.

With all of his seven huskies in good condition, St. Goddard now commands a lead of twenty minutes over Earl Brydges. Leo St. Goddard, brother of Emil finished in third place and "Shorty" Russick, fourth. Harry Olensky was forced to withdraw from yesterday's race because of two dogs going lame. This narrowed the field to four.

BAN IS SERIOUS

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Jan. 27.—The condition of Ban Johnson, "retired" president of the American League, is said to be worse today. Johnson is suffering from neuritis and has been under the care of a physician since he arrived here for a "much needed rest" several days ago.

CHINESE REFUGEES ARRIVE IN STATES

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—The vanguard of those who left China as the result of internal strife in that country began arriving in San Francisco today.

Among those to arrive from China aboard the steamer President Lincoln were Bishop William N. Ainsworth, Macon, Ga., his wife; William H. Adolph and his wife and three children of New York; C. Vollenweider, his wife and two children of New York; R. H. Stanley, his wife and three sons of New York, and J. H. Rutledge of Fresno, California.

More than 200 other Americans from Hankow and other parts of China missed the boat, according to those who arrived here today, and will arrive here on the President Cleveland on Feb. 9.

FARM HAND ARRESTED CHARGED WITH MURDER OF FARMER FOUND IN FIELD

M'ARTHUR, O., Jan. 27.—James Davis, 35 year old farm hand and world war veteran, is held without bond here today while authorities investigate his alleged confession of the murder of Squire Henry Jones, 75, farmer, whose body was found after having been slain in a cornfield throughout the night. Jones had been stabbed through the heart.

According to the confession reported by Sheriff Maude Collins, Davis slashed Jones with a corn knife, after the aged farmer had surprised him in his cornfield and struck him on the head with a shot gun. Davis declares he was not stealing corn but had been given permission to get the corn.

The body was discovered when Miss Teressa Jones, sister of the slain man began a search after his all night absence from their home.

ALL THE "DIRT" IN "DADDY"-"PEACHES" CASE HASN'T BEEN TOLD; "DADDY'S" TURN IS NEXT

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Although it seems unbelievable, all the "dirt" in the "Daddy"-"Peaches" trial hasn't been told.

Not to be outdone by "Peaches," "Daddy" Browning, the big gander man himself, is going on the witness stand next week when the Browning separation case is resumed at White Plains , and he promises to tell "plenty" in the words of one of his lawyers, "He's going to put the shoe on the other foot"—meaning that all kinds of "dirt" is to be slung at the buxom "Peaches."

There are many who think the nation might well be spared the low down on "Peaches" — and, if "Daddy's" testimony lives up to advance notices it certainly will be low enough. The New York Society for the Prevention of Vice, for one, wants to clamp the lid down on the whole show. They have registered a protest to the judge, but it hasn't done any good.

"Peaches'" alleged love affairs with boys before she married the baggy-eyed millionaire is to be the main target of "Daddy." Also, "Daddy's" attorney will put witnesses on the stand, it is hinted, who will try to show that "Peaches" wasn't a good girl when she married Browning although "Peaches" herself shouted from the stand yesterday that she was.

It was reported today that the one witness "Peaches" side has yet to put on the stand will be a distinguished alienist who is said to have made a study of "Daddy" and reached the conclusion he is suffering from "mental fatigue."

"Peaches" herself was fatigued today, mentally and physically. "Until this trial is resumed on Monday," she said, "I'm just going to sleep a sleep—I'm all tired out."

ATTEND DAIRYING CLASSES AT SCHOOL

About twenty-five men and boys, present and prospective Greene County farmers, attended the first session on the night classes in dairying, at Central High School, conducted by Bryce T. Bond, head of the Smith-Hughes Department of the school.

A moving picture, explaining the operation of a milking machine, was shown in the auditorium. Mr. Bond explained to the class the benefits of better and cleaner milk, obtained through use of the machine, and other proper dairy equipment.

The class was continued in the class room, where Karl R. Babb, of the Babb Hardware Co., demonstrated the milking machine.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 27.—A bill creating a legalized boxing law in Missouri is to be introduced in the house of representatives today or tomorrow. The American Legion is sponsoring the measure which would legalize ten round, no-decision bouts.

FIFTEEN HURT WHEN GAS SYSTEM BLOWS

Hall Wrecked During Basketball Game In Idaho—Spectator Lights Match When Lighting Plant Fails

TURNER, Idaho, Jan. 27.—Six persons were dead here today and fifteen others were seriously injured as the result of a gas explosion which wrecked a hall in which the basketball teams of Turner and Central, Idaho, were playing last night.

As about 300 persons from the two communities were watching the game, the acetylene gas lighting system failed. James McCann, the janitor, left to investigate. While he was gone some one struck a match.

A deafening roar followed. The back wall of the building collapsed showering timbers and plaster on the spectators.

Panic stricken, the occupants of the building made a rush for the front exit, a milling mass of humanity. As they struggled around the exit, the front wall of the building also collapsed.

McCann's body was blown to pieces by the force of the explosion. The other dead, it is thought, were trampled to death.

Several of the dead were found near the front exit of the hall.

Two of the basketball players were killed. They were Elmer Anderson and Iral Lowe of the Central team.

Two small sons of James McCann were also killed.

Brigham McCann, a Turner rancher, was the sixth victim.

Immediately after the explosion an emergency hospital was established in a school building here, and help was requested from Grace, Idaho, about twenty-two miles southeast of Pocatello.

DEMOCRATS LAUNCH TAX REDUCTION WAR WITH BOMBARDMENT

Senate And House Democrats Both Demand Action

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Carrying their fight for immediate tax reduction in the open emocratic leaders today launched a big gun bombardment of the administration in both houses of congress for enactment of tax relief legislation before the March 5 adjournment.

In the senate, the Democrats sought a direct vote upon the Reed proposal for a ten per cent slash in income taxes payable this year. In the house, they called upon the administration for action on the Democratic "round robin" demanding passage of a bill, immediately reducing income taxes and repealing nuisance taxes.

This was the Democratic answer to the Republican announcement that a tax reduction bill, totaling a cut between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000, will be sponsored by the administration next December. The announcement was made by Rep. Madden (R) of Illinois, following a conference with President Coolidge.

Taxpayer making a return for the calendar year of 1926 shall be entitled to an allowance by credit or refund of ten per cent of the amount shown as the tax upon his return, such credit to be applied to the portion of the tax paid before July 1, 1927.

Reed challenged the Republicans to support his amendment. He called attention to President Coolidge's declaration that the practice of a government in collecting more taxes than necessary for its maintenance was an act of "legalized larceny." The administration Republicans, however, remained hostile to the proposal.

YOUNG AUTHOR IS ILL IN HOSPITAL

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Jan. 27.—The condition of Katherine Brush, 25, author and daughter-in-law of L. H. Brush, publisher of the Marion Star and other Ohio news papers, was reported by her physicians as "very satisfactory," at Good Samaritan Hospital here today.

Miss Brush, author of the novel "Glitter," came to Hollywood to supervise the motion picture production of the book. She was stricken with appendicitis shortly after dinner Tuesday night, and was rushed to the hospital and an emergency operation performed.

"She rested fairly well during the night, and is resting comfortably this morning," it was said at the hospital. "Unless unforseen complications arise, it is expected that Miss Brush will be out of the hospital within a few days."

Unstemmed tobacco on January 1 totalled 1,688,010,691 pounds, and stemmed 153,634,735 pounds.

DONAHEY'S BATTLE WITH LEGISLATURE FLARES INTO BEING

Opponents Deadlock On Appointments For Six Year Terms

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 27.—There was every indication today at the state capitol that the four-year-old warfare between the Democratic Governor Vic Donahey and the Republican Ohio senate had flamed into being again, after a brief truce dating from the opening of the the eighty-seventh session of the legislature, Jan. 3.

Despite the apparent resumption of the old deadlock between the governor and the senate over appointments, some Republican senate leaders denied it, and maintained that there was yet an opportunity to "patch up" the dispute and avoid a political impasse.

Governor Donahey stood pat on his decision not to send any more appointments to the senate for confirmation until the Republican senatorial majority either confirms or rejects the governor's recent appointment of Wellington T. Leonard, Republican, Mansfield, to a six-year term as a member of the state industrial commission.

Republican leaders in the senate on the other hand, indicated that they do not intend to alter their decision to "indefinitely postpone" action on all appointments that the governor may make to six-year terms.

If the deadlock between Donahey and the senate continues, the governor will hold up his contemplated appointment of members of the state utilities, tax and civil service commissions.

Senators today asserted that the governor should be satisfied with the decision of the Republican senatorial majority to confirm Donahey's Democratic appointments to two-year and four-year terms on these various commissions, thereby giving him control over them during the next two years.

Governor Donahey, however, insisted that the senate shall either reject or confirm, his appointments in the order in which they are sent to the senate and, if rejected, the real reasons for such action should be announced.

NATIONAL HEAD OF O. E. S. DIES IN CHINA

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 27.—Further word concerning the death in China of Mrs. Clara Loraine Henrich, 54, most worthy grand matron of the general grand chapter, order of the Eastern Star, was anxiously awaited by her relatives and friends here today.

A cablegram received late yesterday from Shanghai by relatives here told of her succumbing to illness there while on a world tour in connection with the organization's interests.

Mrs. Henrich held the highest possible office in the Eastern Star Order, having been chosen most worthy grand matron of the general grand chapter during the Toronto convention last year.

She is survived by her husband, Louis Henrich, of near Cincinnati, a son, Lewis, professor of education in the University of California, and a daughter of Batavia, O.

NOT SO SERIOUS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27. — Captain Robert Dollar, head of the Dollar Steamship Company, today declared that he did not believe the situation in China was as serious as press reports would indicate. He also denied his son, Harold Dollar, would leave Shanghai because of the troubled conditions in China.

HUSBAND ASKS HELP OF POLICE IN LOCATING MISSING WIFE

Police have been asked by David Miller, Stelton Road, to aid in locating his wife, Innes, who has been missing from her home since early Wednesday morning.

Miller told Police Chief M. E. Graham he gave his wife money to purchase a fur coat and that she left the house for a shopping trip in Xenia with this in view early Tuesday.

She has not been seen since and there is no trace to her whereabouts. It is one theory that she may have gone to Bainbridge, O., where she is known to have relatives.

A woman partly answering her description is thought to have boarded a Washington C. H. bus at 11 a. m. Tuesday.

Police have ascertained Mrs. Miller purchased a coat at a local store. Miller is unable to account for his wife's disappearance. Police were furnished with her description.

The missing woman is described as being five feet tall, weighs ninety-eight pounds, has black bobbed hair and is twenty-nine years old.

When last seen she was wearing the newly purchased black coat having a fur collar, red check dress, black hat with a red flower, light gloves and tan shoes.

Jobe Brothers

Europe Inspired It—Dietrich Designed It Studebaker Built It—Paris Approves It

Now All XENIA Can See It

AT the 20th International Motor Exhibition at the Grand Palais in Paris, Europe saw the Erskine Six for the first time.

Over night it was acclaimed the hit of the Paris Show!

The press called it the "Clou du Salon!" The man in the street and the man of affairs—designers of cars and designers of the Paris mode—everybody declared the Erskine Six to be the outstanding triumph of the exhibition—excelling Europe in its own type of car. The Parisian triumph was repeated at the Olympia Show in London.

Priced under $1000

People over there want modishness and insist upon upkeep economy. Motorists over here are welcoming both as a new order in car ownership. The Erskine Six was built for both markets, for it sells for less than $1000.

But don't look for any signs of economy in its appearance—because Dietrich designed it!

And don't be afraid that economy has impaired the quality—because Studebaker built it!

The Erskine Six is a newcomer as a car, but it's built and backed by an old-timer in the industry and has been perfected by extreme road tests on Studebaker's million dollar proving ground!

Wherever you look at this low-swung, wide-windowed, full-vision steel body, you will find visible evidence of the creative genius which is Dietrich!

Outside, the close-hauled beauty of the Paris mode—and inside, the relaxation and comforts of home!

Easy to Handle

Nimble enough to turn in an 18-foot radius—powerful enough to take an 11% grade without shifting gears—fast enough to skim over the highway at 60 miles per hour—and smart enough to be an ornament as well as an automobile.

RELEASE ALLEGED PAROLE VIOLATOR

Charges against Elmer Bowermaster, who was recently arrested as an alleged parole violator, have been dismissed by Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy.

Bowermaster was originally sentenced to a reform school for implication in the theft of an automobile. Another youth was also involved in the theft.

The court yielded to the plea of the boy's mother not to enforce the sentence when she agreed to reimburse the owner of the car for his loss. Bowermaster was released.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for only 75 cents. This is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, [illegible] one can possibly tell, as it does so naturally and evenly. Your? [illegible] sten a sponge or soft br[illegible] it, drawing this through t[illegible] taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray disappears; after another [illegible] or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. —Adv.

LAWS TO CONTROL RADIO POSSIBLE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Passage of radio control legislation to smooth out present chaotic conditions in the air before congress adjourns appeared a foregone conclusion today when members of both houses clamored for action on the revised Dillwhite bill.

The bill provides for regulations of the whole radio field by an independent commission of five members, appointed by the president. With this commission would rest the problem of issuing licenses, assigning wave lengths, and designating the proper location, apparatus and power of stations. At the end of a year, the commission would become an appeal body, and Secretary of Commerce Hoover would be given full regulatory jurisdiction except he would not have the power to revoke licenses. This power would remain with the commission.

BIBLE THOUGHT

PERFECT PEACE:—Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee; because he trusteth in thee. Isaiah 26 : 3.

AMERICAN MOTHERHOOD

Two thousand years have come and gone since Cornelia, that noble Roman matron, referring to her sweet little children, made her wonderful speech, in four words, perhaps the greatest speech as well as the shortest: "These are my jewels."

Cornelia's tribute to motherhood has come down the ages, cannot be improved upon, should not be forgotten.

Rome never did women justice, called them harsh names, classed them as chattels of the husband or father. But in spite of all that, millions of fine Roman matrons of whom Cornelia is a type, were superior to the stupid laws of their time. They were not heading "movements" to placard the senate and denunciations, demanding votes for women, new divorce laws, legal right to private ownership of estates. All these very modern examples were absolutely unknown in ancient Rome. Yet the Roman women, as a whole, seemed to make their own happiness.

And for those American women this day, who, somehow, imagine that because the governmen is faulty in this or that particular, it is impossible to be happy, Cornelia speaks across the centuries. She lifts her finger to her lips, commands silence, and with a shining smile, repeats her wonderful legend of happiness, "These are my jewels," pointing then to her sweet little children.

What more do American women need to make them happy? And happily, in America, we, too, have our thousands of women, in every village, hamlet, city, rural region, all repeating Cornelia's message about the children.

For, no matter how you may go in war, to slay the enemy, all normal human beings in their calmer moments know that the loveliest sight in the world is a mother and her children. Would you not prefer to benefit them than to injure them?

Which is to say, Mother Love is the greatest redeeming power on earth, or as the mystical chorus sings at the end of Faust:

All things transitory
But as symbols are sent:
Earth's insufficiency
Here grows to event;
The indescribable
Here it is done,
The Woman Soul leadeth us
Upward and on.

DON'T "KNOCK" THE CHURCH

Men say we have a soul, but do we in truth act as though we cared? Well, we hear of much irreligion, and men ask rather seriously at times, as though they really meant it: "Why does not Christianity end war?"

We reply: Historically regarded, organized religion has had an immense effect on modern art, manners, business methods, customs, science; has set apart principles of justice toward which politicians blindly grope. Modern democratic tendencies are based on ecclesiastical principles as old as the dust beneath your feet.

But there is such a thing as claiming too much. To ask, "Why does not Christianity end all wars?" infers a certain innocence, in regard to men and men's ways.

Whether "materialism" has or has not gained steadily on the simple moral teachings of primitive Christians; whether materialism has not in all ages been stronger than codes of morals, we leave for erudite historians to argue.

Whatever may have been the standards 2000 years ago, at least this day looking around as we may safely say: In any distribution of the spoils, the weak are always in the wrong; and though in "official proclamations of good will," on the part of great rulers, there is always a clause that supports "moral values," all this does not prevent these rulers from plundering native peoples; nor are "we" right here at home averse to utilizing the finest fruits of science to add to the horrors of future wars.

For all of this, who is to blame, the church or the people? Don't "knock" the church; "knock" yourself.

BELLS

I've answered bells the live-long day—
The grocer-boy, the milkman;
When it was not the paper-boy,
Then bless me, 'twas the ice-man.

The plumber on the telephone;
Subscription-taking students;
A junk-man at the cellar door,
Buying rags with prudence!

I jump like an automaton
That answers to a number,
When whistles blow and bells are rung,
I hear them in my slumber!

A scissors-grinder just passed by,
As day was growing dim.
And when he rang his bell, poor man—
I set the dog on him!

MORE ABOUT THE MEDICINAL USE OF EXTRACTS MADE FROM THE ORGANS OF ANIMALS.

The spleen is the largest and most conspicuous of the ductless glands, is said to have something to do with digestion, and is quite certainly concerned with the formation of the red corpuscles of the blood. Hence, it is inferred that an extract of the spleen would be good for indigestion and good for anemia.

But it does not necessarily follow that this reasoning is correct, and when you take extract of spleen for indigestion it is quite possible, as with so many medicines that it has no relation whatsoever to the ailment in your particular case.

Another practice which is not based upon physiological knowledge or sound reasoning, is, to take a lot of organs which are supposed to be concerned with digestion, chop them up, get an extract from them, and then advertise to the public that here is the compound secretion of all the digestive organs and that, therefore, it will digest all kinds of food. The chances are if it is not inert, and if chemical changes have taken place in the process of making it, that it will not digest anything.

Among the extracts from the organs and tissues of cattle, hogs and sheep are the following: Corpus luteum and ovarine from ovaries, celebrine from the brain, thyroid and parathyroid extract from the thryoid gland, pituitrin from the pituitary body, hemoglobine from the blood, and other preparations from the spleen, liver, stomach and pancreas.

It would be impracticable to attempt to catalogue in this article all the diseases which these extracts are supposed to cure but most of them are supposed to be useful in the diseases of organs from which the extracts are obtained. Of course, they are expensive, for the process of making them is costly and complicated, and the results of treatment are very often disappointing.

There is also some danger in taking most of them, for they are obtained from dead animals whose tissues, particularly their organs, decompose quickly and develop toxins and poisons.

Even when the extract is obtained before decomposition has set in, we still have decomposable animal tissue which may undergo important chemical changes long before it is used as medicine.

If these extracts are combined with antiseptics to delay or prevent decomposing changes, the medicinal value, if there is any, may be destroyed by this combination.

The mere odor of these preparations is sometimes sufficiently offensive to cause nausea and vomiting.

Even pepsin, which is unquestionably a valuable substance, is most unreliable and of most unequal value and digestive strength.

Ask Dr. Currier that medical question that has been puzzling you. Confine your letter to fifty words and send stamped, addressed envelope for reply. He cannot, of course, make individual diagnosis, and he reserves the right to decide as to the propriety of queries.

SIGNIFICANT SAYINGS OF THE DAY

"The person who drinks modern-day liquor is a suicide and the bootlegger who sells the liquor is a murderer ... We do not want to see anyone killed, but why blame the government when it has warned everyone of the harmful nature of denatured alcohol?"—Mrs. Margaret Munns, national treasurer of W. C. T. U.

The girl wets her lips frequently with her tongue and carries millions of the microbes from her lips to her system, thus breeding diseases."—Dr. Charles W. Craster, health officer of Newark, N. J.

"I don't know of any fundamental reason why every normal person cannot become rich. Not right away, of course, but in time—as modern manufacturing and modern distribution methods vastly increase the wealth of society as a whole. In fact, judged by the standards of 200 years ago, ordinary people are rich now."—Walter C. Crawford, president of Illinois Bankers' association.

MAKING MODERN MENUS

The French have always been noted for their prowess at soup making and they have shown us that a soup containing a variety of vegetables and meats with their juices and the addition of dumplings, is an entire meal and a good one to boot.

To a French cook a casserole is only a saucepan which can be covered to retain the heat and in which she can cook meats and vegetables in their own nutritious juices, baking them in a slow oven.

FRENCH SOUP

Make stock of about four pounds of brisket of beef, salt, a big onion, two cloves, a carrot, a stalk of celery and a sprig of parsley, one bayleaf. The meat is wiped and covered with five quarts of cold water, a tablespoon of salt is added and the pan is placed on the back of the stove. The cloves are stuck into the onion and the other vegetables cut small and added to the liquid. The stock is brought to a boil and allowed to simmer at least four hours. Then it is strained. Measure one pint of water for every three pints of stock to be used, and for these quantities a cup each of chopped potatoes, carrots, turnips, cabbage, with half a cup of string beans, half a cup of lima beans and half a cup of tomatoes. Simmer vegetable in the stock for two hours, adding potatoes after this period and cooking another half hour.

GREEN PEPPERS IN CASSEROLE

Parboil half a dozen green peppers for five minutes, cut off the stem ends, remove the seeds and melt two tablespoons of butter in a saucepan. Add an onion, finely chopped, cook until it turns to a golden brown, stir in three tablespoons of crumbs and season them with salt, pepper and catsup. Drain the peppers, place them in the casserole and fill with the crumbs. On top of each pepper gently break an egg and cover with more crumbs. Bake for ten minutes and serve with a cheese sauce.

How to Achieve Beauty

CORRECT DIET NECESSARY FOR BEAUTY

Importance of Including Fruits and Vegetables in Daily Meals

Today I am going to tell you a few interesting facts regarding the health value of fruits and vegetables. Fruits, although they are water rich foods and are poor in practically all of the nutrient substances such as proteins, fats and carbohydrates, are nevertheless a very valuable part of the daily diet and should be eaten often.

MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Tomato juice has often been substituted for orange juice when oranges were not procurable. Tomatoes, of course, being rich in health-giving vitamins.

The citrus fruits such as oranges lemons and grapefruit contain a major portion of health-giving vitamins. Apples, plums and cherries also contain these same sort of vitamins, but to a lesser degree.

Green fruits should be avoided as they often contain certain substances which are disturbing to the digestion. Of course, you all know it is unsafe to eat unripe apples or any other unripe fruit.

Ripe fruit, which, as I said before, is rich in water content and relatively poor in nutricient values. In other words, to furnish as much energy or protein as would be gained from a small amount of some of the more concentrated foods such as cereals, pease or beans a greater volume of fruit must be eaten.

The fat-soluble vitamins, which are one of the most essential of the five kinds of vitamins, are necessary for the building up of the body. In appetizing foods these vitamins are contained in butter, milk, yoke of egg and greens that are palatable such as spinach, watercress, lettuce, celery leaves, turnip tops, beet tops and radish tops, Carrots and sweet potatoes contain these vitamins in greater amounts than white potatoes, white turnips, parsnips, red beets, or radishes. White corn does not contain them whereas yellow corn does to a greater extent. Another interesting fact about the distribution of this substance is that it is abundant in liver, kidney and sweetbread, but only present to a very slight degree in lean meats and body fats of animals such as tallow or lard.

KELLYGRAMS

WHY WORRY ABOUT THE HOUSE?

FRED. KELLY

Probably the greatest single source of worry, in the long run, is dread of a penniless old age.

We do without things that we need now and try to save to have money when we are too old to work.

We have a horror of spending declining years in a county poor house, and we haven't much more zest for being shunted off in an upstairs room in the home of one of our children.

Yet the fact is that most of the worry about going to the poor house is unnecessary. Compared to the number that earn their way clear up to the end, the number who become objects of charity is trifling. What saves thousands from the poor house, in spite of only scant savings, is the fact that few of us live as long as we expect to live. In figuring how long we shall hold out, we give ourselves the benefit of every doubt. Every time I see a picture of old Chauncey Depew in his 93rd year I think to myself that there is no reason why I shouldn't equal his record. If so, I must save enough money to live on the interest from the time I'm too old to work until I'm 93.

But according to batting averages, the chances are that I'll be able to earn my way as long as I live. Of course I'll never make the grade to 93—and you won't either. If a mean-spirited germ gets such a strangle hold on you that you no longer can work, you probably won't live long after than and won't need much money. Those who worry most about a penniless old age seem to be the ones whose no-account relatives inherit and squander their savings.

All of which reminds me of my friend, Roy Taylor, who is improvident and insists that he would rather have fun with his money now and take a chance on poverty in old age.

"What fun can you have when you are old, even if you do have plenty of money?" he asks. "You can't travel much and you no longer enjoy buying nice little suppers for pretty girls. If you go to the poor house, you're not much worse off there than you'd be in a hotel or at a Union League club. Either way you are in dull company. Now is just as much a part of your life as old age is, but you are capable now of enjoing what you spend."

We have talked so often about his future at the poor house, because of his extravagant habits that yesterday I got a letter from him on the subject. He said:

"It would be much more fun at the poor house if you were there with me for company. Why can't we go together? Plan for it."

Bobbie Ransom, a pretty little blond school teacher, is anything but the flip sort of girl whom you'd expect to be "movie struck." But she is. For years she has been dreaming of going to Hollywood to break into pictures.

Neither her father, a widower, nor her AUNT GERTRUTE, nor ANDY JERROLD, who wants her to marry him, will lend her the money to go on "such a wild goose chase." And because she's extravagant and spends everything she makes, she has no money of her own.

Finally she borrows $500 from the well-to-do WIDOW PARKINS, who is going to be her father's second wife, and goes to Hollywood with a high heart and a full purse. At a boarding house of the eccentric MRS. MANGAN she meets STELLA DELROY, who's an extra girl in movies. Through Stella she gets two days' work at the Magnifica Studios in a picture directed by famous ROY SCHULTZ. The assistant director, GUS MACCLOUD, a handsome bachelor, takes a deep interest in her, and another extra girl, MONICA MONT, advises her to play up to him. Monica is a gold digger, and Bobbie is dreadfully upset when Monica decides to come to live at Mrs. Mangan's, for she never pays for anything that she can get for nothing.

MacLoud invites Bobbie to go to the Mexican gambling town of Tia Juana with him, and tries to make love to her, but she rebuffs him. She feels that he's too supe of her. But after Roy Schultz's wife, LOTTIE, tells her that both MacCloud and her own husband are interested in her career, Bobbie begins to be nice to him. Slowly she feels herself falling in love with him, but she never loses sight of the fact thta he can help her become a film actress. One night he takes her to an actors' benefit, and toward midnight suggests that they leave and drive down to the ocean. Despite the lateness of the hour, Bobbie says she'll go, and they start off.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

It was a blow to Bobbie to hear from Monica's own lips that she, too, had been a visitor at Gus MacCloud's hillside house.

It always is a blow to a woman to find out that there have been other women in the life of the man she happens to be in love with.

"And yet," Bobbie told herself, remembering that she had seen Gus with at least three other women in the time she had known him, "t's only natural that a good-looking bachelor in his thirties should have had love affairs by the dozen."

She slowly stirred the coffee in the cup that was balanced on her knees.

"Monica," she said, looking up from it, "How well do you know Gus?"

Monica shrugged her slender shoulders.

"Come on in my room a minute. I want to show you something," she said, and jumped up. "It came last night just after you left with Gus."

Bobbie put on her kimono and slippers and followed her across the hall. One the table in the center of Monica's room was a radio. An expensive looking one.

"Where did you get it?" Bobbie asked, and Monica laughed her shill, gay laugh.

"Oh, from one of the electricians over at the studio," she answered. "His brother has a store where they sell these things and he's been ding-donging at me for a month to buy one from him. So I told him to bring one over and here it is. I hope they don't expect me to pay for it. If they do, they're going to be awfully disappointed." She shook her head sadly.

"I haven't ten dollars to bless myself wit.," she went on, closing the door of the room gently and lowering her voice. "And I was just going to ask you to do me the biggest kind of a favor, Bobbie."

Bobbie looked at her, waiting for her to go on.

"I was going to ask you if I and my radio could move into your room with you for just a week or so," Monica explained, after a moment's hesitation. "You see, neither one of us would have to pay Mrs. Mangan as much money that way as we do now. And honestly, Bobs, I'm just stony broke. If you won't take me in, I'll have to go and sleep in the park until I get work."

Bobbie's eyes traveled her up and down. She looked tawdry in her flashy clothes, but there was a genuine diamond in a ring on her left hand. How could anyone be stony broke with a ring like that.

"All right, when do you want to double up? Today?" she asked, wishing she had the courage to suggest to Monica that she sell the diamond. She almost offered to lend Monica the money to pay her board bill, but something told her that if she did it once, there would be no end to the money Monica would borrow from her.

But all the same, she hated the thought of having Monica in her room.

For one thing, Monica was sloppy. Her own room was fairly running over with things that should have been hung in the closet or put away in dresser drawers. Stockings of an amazing thinness were slung across seats of chairs. Silk underclothing that reeked with the "Subtil" perfume that Monica used lay in corners of the room. Monica apparently just "stepped out" of it at night when she undressed herself.

The dresser was a mass of powder puffs, rouge boxes, chocolate creams, packages of cigarettes, lemons that Monica used for her complexion, water-wave combs tangled up in hair nets, soiled handkerchiefs and tissue for removing cold cream from the skin.

There was a plate of dried brown apple cores on the table beside the radio. The radio! Bobbie knew that Monica would keep that radio going all the time. It was going to be terrible to have Monica and that radio in the same room with her.

She didn't want anyone with her! She liked having the orderly quiet place to herself, especially at night when she could sit propped up against the pillows and peacefully read herself to sleep.

She liked to have everything in its place—every dress on its hanger, every pair of slippers on its trees, ever. hat covered with tissue paper on the top shelf in the clothes closet.

"I don't know whether I can stand having her in with me or not," she told herself, miserably.

* * *

It was worse even than she expected it to be, for Monica simply took possession of the room, as if she were paying the rent instead of Bobbie. She played the radio for hours every night. She borrowed Bobbie's clean handkerchiefs, her silk stockings, and used her face powder as if it were her own.

"Isn't it nice that we both use the same shade?" she would ask cheerfully, dabbing it all over her face and neck and arms. "Because I haven't any of my own left!"

On an afternoon toward the end of the week, Bobbie came home tired and discouraged by a visit to the Central casting office and to the casting office at Magnifica.

She had gone to Magnifica, not so much to see the casting director, but to see Gus MacCloud. However, he was nowhere in sight.

"Funny I haven't heard from him for nearly a week," she thought, on the way home. "And not a word from Roy Schultz, either. Maybe my screen test was poor. Maybe they think I'm no good."

She went up the stairs of Mrs. Mangan's house to her room. It was in wild disorder and the smell of the "Subtil" perfume seemed to be more overpowering than usual.

Bobbie groaned as she began to put things away. Things that Monica had left around—ribbons, handkerchiefs, strings of beads.

Then, all at once, she saw that Monica had left a note pinned on the blue-silk pin cushion that stood on the dresser.

"Bobbins dear," she had written. "I've gone up to Gus MacCloud's. He telephoned for both of us. I borrowed your black satin dress to wear. You're to get a cab and come right along, too, the minute you read this. Supper 'n' everything! Nize party!"

She had not signed it. But Bobbie told herself that she would have known it was Monica's handwriting, no matter where she had seen it. It was like Monica—wild and hurried and careless looking.

"I won't go!" Bobbie said aloud, and she said it bitterly and with feeling.

The least Monica could have done was to wait for her and drive her up in her car! But no, she had to go rushing off ahead of her to have an hour or so alone with Gus MacCloud! No doubt trying to vamp him, as she tried to vamp every man who came along.

"Sure, I believe in getting everything from every man that I can," she had told Bobbie only the night before. "And all that stops me from getting more from them than I do is that I have only two hands instead of four!"

* * *

The telephone in the upper hall rang loudly.

"A gentleman for you, dearie!" Mrs. Mangan's voice came floating up from downstairs.

It was MacCloud, and at the sound of his voice Bobbie began to weaken. She knew she was going up to his "nize party" after all. Not that she fel like meeting a lot of new people, but because she would see him again.

"You've got to come," he told her. "I'll send everybody home if you don't come. I'll be right down for you."

Well, that was different—if he was coming for her! Bobbie clicked up the receiver and flew back to her room.

She was trig and fresh in a tan silk sports dress and hat when his cream-colored car stopped before the house.

"Be right down!" she sang out to him, leaning from the window of her room.

The sight of him lolling there behind the wheel of the long low car in his sweater and cap, thrilled and excited her, somehow. She added a last touch of scarlet paint to her lips with fingers that shook a little.

In the mirror her eyes were pools of shining amber light, and there was a smile in them. The corners of her mouth went up.

"Oh, I'm happy—happy!" she whispered to the girl in the glass, and ran down the stairs.

Mrs. Mangan was standing at the front door talking to some one, and she turned around just as Bobbie reached the bottom of the stairs. In her hand she held a telegram.

"It's for you," she said. Her eyes were round and frightened.

She stood behind Bobbie and tried to see what the message said. "I always go all of a tremble whenever a telegram comes to the house," she declared. "Oh, I do hope there's no bad news in this one, Miss Ransom, dear." She almost wrung her hands as she spoke.

"It's from home!" gasped Bobbie. "My Aunt Gertrude is sick—appendicitis! Oh, what WILL I do? I should never have left her. I should have stayed with her!"

From out of doors there came the sudden loud honking of Gus MacCloud's machine. Evidently he was in a great hurry to be back at his house.

Bobbie ran out to him, holding the telegram in her hand.

"Oh, I'm sorry, but I can't go with you!" she said, and her breath came jerkily between the words. "I've got to go home. My aunt's dreadfully sick, and my father wants me to take the first train for home."

MacCloud was silent. He stared moodily down the length of the street and grunted.

"Hmm!" He threw his motor into gear. "Well—sorry. See you later, maybe!"

Bobbie gasped. "For cat's sake! You act as if I'd hurt your feelings! I should think you'd be sympathizing with me instead of acting like this!"

He swung his head, and kept his eyes straight before him. "No, but it's doggoned funny that you never can do anything I want you to do," he said, sulkily. "Rushing away just because your aunt has a tummy ache, or something! Just when I throw a party for you! I'll bet your aunt isn't half a sick as you pretend to think she is. Why don't you long-distance your folks back home and find out exactly how she is?"

Bobbie shook her head. "No. They wouldn't send for me if she weren't dreadfully sick," she told him firmly. "I've got to go and I've got to go right away. The very first train—"

She stopped. For without another word, MacCloud was gone. His car slid into motion and moved down the street between the palm trees and the neat lawns! He did not look back, although she watched him until he was out of sight.

For a second Bobbie hated him. "Why, he's just a big spoiled baby," she said to herself. "He really isn't worth bothering about."

It was more than two hours afterward that she read her telegram once more, as the train moved out of Los Angeles and headed toward home.

She looked back at its receding lights with wistful, unhappy eyes.

"I'll be back soon," she promised herself, staring out of the window at the darkness of the countryside a half hour later. Against its blackness she seemed to see a man's face with fine features and a pair of close-set sulky blue eyes.

"I wonder how well Monica and he know each other," she mused, thinking of them in the white plaster house on the hillside right at that moment—together.

Then she gave an impatient shake. "Oh, he wouldn't look at Monica!" she kept telling herself. But she wasn't sure of it, at that!

St. Brigids High Tossers Defeat Springfield Team

ST. JOSEPH'S HIGH DEFEAT AVENGED IN RETURN GAME HERE

Ernst Sparklers As Locals Win At Gym 16 To 14

Demonstrating it is a greatly improved team well versed in all departments of play, St. Brigids High School's basketball quintet acquired an even break in the home and home series by nosing out St. Joseph High basketeers of Springfield 16 to 14 in a thrilling encounter that was nip and tuck until the last horn blew Wednesday night at Central High School gym.

It was a well-earned victory after thirty-two minutes of hectic playing and the local bucketeers had to hustle in order to achieve it. St. Brigids was never more than four points in the lead but consistent effort brought the team victory. Locals led practically all the way except for a few minutes in the first quarter and held a 10 to 7 advantage at the half.

St. Brigids always had enough reserve power to offset any activities in a point-making way shown by the visitors and although extended to the limit to win, was able to muster needed points when St. Joseph became threatening.

The previous game at Springfield resulted in a 22 to 15 victory for the Reaper City parochial school.

Neither team could gain a comfortable lead during the first quarter. The scoring was limited in this period to a lone field goal by Ernst, St. Brigids forward, and a foul by F. Tucker, Springfield guard.

In the second quarter both teams chose to substitute offensive work for defenisve tactics. Cain shot a fielder, McClain retaliated for St. Joseph by making double foul shots good. Ernst again hit the net from the field and F. Tucker made two fielders in quick succession. Cain looped one through the basket as the half ended.

In the second half Xenia was outscored 7 to 6. For St. Brigids Ernst shot a fielder, F. Tucker then made a foul, Geiger increased Xenia's lead with a basket, and Kelley duplicated for the visitors. Killeen hit the net and Kelley did likewise as the final whistle blew.

St. Brigids is particularly deserving of praise for the stamina it displayed for the game was a severe test. For the locals Ernst scintillated on the offense with six points and Downey played a remarkable floor game. Other members of the team acquitted themselves creditably.

F. Tucker was the outstanding star for St. Joseph and was high-point man of the game with eight markers. Kelley also played well. The teams were about evenly matched.

Organized cheering made its appearance at the game, students had memorized cheers at pep meetings and Alex Mangan and Forest Galliger, student cheer leaders, dressed in white suits and equipped with megaphones, made an attractive appearance.

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! Is tongue coated, breath feverish and stomach sour?

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is ofttimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has full directions for babies ,children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." —Adv.

The Agony Of Rheumatism

"Money Back" says Sayre's Drug Store If the First Bottle Allenrhu Fails to Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used.

"It does not matter whether you are disabled with cursed rheumatism or have only occasional twinges." Nine times out of ten Allenrhu will ease the agony, do away with the gnawing pains and help to reduce the swollen joints."

Allenrhu is no laggard; it starts right in at once; and by correcting faulty elimination, searches out the poisons and in two days starts to drive the concentrated impurities that may be the cause of rheumatism, out of the body through the natural channels.

Druggists everywhere guarantee it as above in every instance. —Adv.

Pile Sufferers

How Far Have You Gotten With Messy Ointments?

Don't be surprised that suppositories and salves haven't rid you of Piles. The most they can do is bring temporary relief. They never reach the cause—blood stagnation in the lower bowel.

Piles can be removed by an operation. Sure! But who wants to submit to the surgeon's knife when a harmless little tablet taken internally can banish the cause of Piles and bring real, lasting and honest-to-goodnes relief?

Forget about an operation and stop using salves. Hem-Roid, the internal remedy discovered by Dr. Leonhardt, should quickly rid you of Piles the same as it is doing for thousands of others or costs nothing.

Get a package of Hem-Roid today at Sayre's Drug Store or any druggist. It is absolutely harmless and if you aren't delighted with the results you can have your money back. —Adv.

Use Cuticura Soap And Ointment To Heal Sore Hands

Things to Know Before Baby Comes

THE expectant mother's comfort and well being is very important. And one of the most important things for her to do is to use Mother's Friend to keep the skin and muscles soft and pliable—thus aiding the tissues and muscles to relax and adjust themselves to the changes during motherhood. Mother's Friend is the formula of an eminent physician and has been used by expectant mothers for over three generations. No woman awaiting the joy of motherhood should allow the days to pass without using Mother's Friend.

Mrs. Laura Hendrix, Gracemont, Okla., writes: "I used Mother's Friend with all my babies and I think it is the grandest help that has ever been discovered for expectant mothers. I can't say too much for it."

Mother's Friend is safe for you to use because it contains no harmful drugs and is applied externally.

Mother! Insist on Mother's Friend—the same as used by our mothers and grandmothers—don't wait—start using tonight—and meanwhile write Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. 31, Atlanta, Ga., for free valuable booklet "Motherhood and the Coming Baby" (sent in plain envelope). It tells how Mother's Friend can help you during expectancy and at childbirth. This booklet also tells you many other things you want to know. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all druggists—everywhere.

PEERLESS MODELS CAUSE INTEREST AT XENIA MOTOR SHOW

"All sales records for the Peerless Motor Car Corporation were broken in 1926, with the number of cars sold almost 100 per cent more than in 1925," reports Horace Prince, Xenia agent.

"The fact that 1925 saw all previous sales records of the company broken makes the record this year an even more remarkable testimonial to the amazing increase in Peerless popularity.

"To keep pace with the rapidly growing sales, hundreds of Peerless dealers have been signed, making Peerless service available now in every corner of the country. The company during the last year opened an export department and scores of Peerless cars are to be seen now on the boulevards in Cuba and the South American countries, Japan and Europe.

"Addition of a new moderately-priced model, Six-90, in the fall of 1926 is expected to be a major contributing factor in a continued sales increase during 1927. The Peerless Six-80, announced in 1925, has won a standing in its field which insures an excellent sales volume while the larger and older Peerless models have during the last twenty-five years won a reputation among fine car owners which makes certain their continued popularity."

"In two years the Peerless dealer organization has been increased more than 700 per cent and it is still growing. This, more than any other one thing, testifies to the growing popularity of Peerless.

"The widespread Peerless dealer organization is of real benefit to the Peerless owner."

N. N. Hunter agency, Horace Prince, Xenia manager, is showing these cars at the auto show.

UMBRELLA FACTORY IS AGAIN LAUNCHED

WILMINGTON, O., Jan. 27.—The Darnell business block has been leased by the Union Manufacturing Co., an organization representing Wilmington capital, which will use the second floor rooms for an umbrella and raincoat manufactory. The factory, which may employ as many as half a hundred persons, will begin operation Febraury 1.

E. E. Haines, Elijah Van Pelt, M. S. Tener, H. A. Coate, and W. I. Stewart are stockholders in the company, which was organized to operate the factor y formerly known as the Moulton Wireless Umbrella Company, which was taken over last August by The Clinton Realty & Loan Company, of Wilmington, and which until recently was operated under the supervision of the realty company.

The factory was bought by the realty company when offered for sale as the result of a court suit brought to marshal liens. The realty company held a mortgage on the factory property, which it bought to protect its rights.

NEW ERSKINE MAKES FIRST APPEARANCE AT AUTO SHOW HERE

The Erskine Six, Studebaker's new two and one-third litre car, has been developed in four models: Custom sedan for five; Tourer, also for five passengers; custom coupe, with rumble seat, for four, and a business coupe for two. Every line of the new Erskine reflects an unmistakably European air. Both open and closed models are exceptionally low hung, and in their compact proportions and smart European lines mark a new departure in design.

The sweep of wide crown fenders of unusual design, and the beautiful back and roof lines of the closed models, achieved only through the use of expensive dies and deep drawing operations on sheet steel, are characteristic of the finest custom body practice, and reflect the high standard of quality to which the cars have been built throughout.

Tool box and battery box are set in the base of the front fenders. Closed bodies are of steel construction, and Dietrich's design of the windshield pillars affords the highest degree of visibility being but two and five-eighths inches wide, providing the greatest visibility with an adequate factor of structural safety.

Another smart touch in the closed models are compartments for gloves, cigarettes or other motoring accessories at each end of the instrument board. Instruments on all models include hydrostatic gasoline gauge, ammeter, oil pressure indicator and speedometer.

The Erskine Six Custom Sedan is exceptionally low hung, with a roof line only sixty-seven and one-half inches from the ground.

The Erskine, of course, is handled by The Greene County Hardware Co., Studebaker agents, and is on exhibit at the auto show this week.

BETHLEHEM—The Birthplace of the Child Jesus

Of chief interest to pilgrims to "The Little Town of Bethlehem" is the Church of the Nativity, which marks the traditional spot where Jesus was born in a manger. Exterior and interior views of this church are shown in this reel, together with village scenes, glimpses at the picturesque market place on the edge of the village, and a moonlight view of the fields where "shepherds watched their flocks by night." BRINGING UP FATHER

By GEORGE McMANUS

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

Just AMONG US GIRLS
by Kathryn Kenney

"THE BOY FRIENDS"

A girl can't be popular unless she is nice to every man; and she can't stay popular if she keeps it up!

It's all right to treat each man as though the cake had just been frosted, but it's a different thing when you start dividing it up.

Putting all your kisses in one place is the only way to get interest. No man likes to see fresh footprints on his trail.

A woman may have two or three boy friends until one of them forgets his hat when he jumps out of the window. There is safety in numbers until someone starts putting two and two together. Two is a wedding march and three is a funeral march.

Men don't think about marriage until after it's over with, but a girl never goes to a dance without buy a collar for, and the unfaithful sort who won't stand still long enough to have it put on. If you get anything on him there's nothing exclusive about it! The funny part is, take away his faults and there's nothing left but a raccoon coat!

When it comes right down to it, a woman likes a man for the amount of reforming he needs.

Money comes in handy in marriage, but that's nothing to the way it goes out!

Anybody can forge a check, but you can't copy a sense of humor. Both men and women like to be amused, which is why the animal act is such a flop.

Many a man thinks he's a devil with the women when they don't even know he's in the room until they smell the smoke. He may watching some man's step.

TAKING THEM OFF THEIR FEET

A girl would rather stick to a poor man than a good job. She would rather give him a degree of temperature than take several at college.

It's quite a question as to who will make the best husbands; some girls would rathr get indigestion on caviar than stick to a bread and milk diet.

After all, it isn't "the men who make the best husbands," it's the mothers who make 'em!

When a girl looks the boy friends over, there's one she does not overlook.

Every girl knows the faithful sort of man she doesn't have to have a limousine, but he can't take 'em off their feet.

Mother always picks out a nice steady boy for daughter. He's so steady you can't rock him to sleep—he is asleep!

As a matter of fact what mother is thinking of is what kind of a son-in-law he will make. Just because she's had all the excitement that she wants out of life is no reason she should begrudge daughter a little fun!

The best husbands may stay home every morning, but what girl wants to have all her fun over the radio?

The new Nash Ambassador and Cavalier, with their French type roofs and forward sweeping backs have been an outstanding attraction at the big automobile shows held so far this year. Crowds which literally jammed the Nash booth at the New York, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Brooklyn, Cleveland, Cincinnati, and other places ,were outspoken in their enthusiasm for these newest Nash creations. On all sides the new Nash body conception is being referred to as the most striking development in the history of American closed car craftsmanship and it is freely prophesied that it would exert a profound influence upon the whole future trend of enclosed car body design in this country.

As a matter of fact this new Nash design really inaugurates America's rise to the heights long held by the great body designers of Europe whose conceptions have always been regarded as authentic. Now, under the leadership of Nash, this country may be expected to reverse oldtime traditions and establish itself as the world center of motor car style.

It will probably be only a question of months before other large motor car manufacturers will be developing models that pursue the general lines Nash has now inaugurated in the Ambassador and Cavalier.

Of particular interest is the manner in which Nash body artists have treated the roofline and the rear of the body. Their graceful contours and perfect symmetry though strongly suggestive of the French mode are entirely original with Nash. And the "town car" effect at the front is also a decided Nash innovation that immediately captured the admiration of show visitors.

Xenia Motor Sales, S. Detroit St., has the Nash agency and is showing new models at the auto show, E. Third St.

The Lovely Paris Girls Try what they use

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I have made 35 trips to Paris in my quest for beauty. I go there as regularly for beauty aids as dressmakers go for styles.

Every year I find girls prettier, women younger. And I bring back for myself and you the latest ideas and helps. All Edna Wallace Hopper's beauty aids, supplied by toilet counters, are kept up to date. I want them the best in existence.

My Youth Cream is one of them. It is more than a face cream. Several great complexion aids are embodied in it, including products of lemon and strawberry, and other important factors.

Youth Cream comes in two types—cold cream and vanishing. I use one at night, the other in the morning. Never is my skin without this cream to foster and protect it. My complexion at which millions marvel is largely due to that.

Please learn what my Youth Cream does. It will bring you an entirely new conception of face cream. Ask at any toilet counter for Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream. Jars, 60c; tubes, 35c.

The Theatre

Newspaper writers, who were privileged last week to witness a preview of Vitaphone, the great Warner Brothers-Bell Telephone-General Electric invention which had its Central Ohio premier Saturday at the Grand Theater, Columbus are unanimous in their praise and wonder over the new instrument which carries to all parts of the theater faithfully reproduced sounds, synchronized perfectly with motion pictures.

The program, which is the same that is given the public, starting last Saturday, begins with an address by Will Hays, "czar of the movies." Mr. Hays is seen making an earnest talk in which he tells of the wonders of Vitaphone, and the sounds of his voice are heard in perfect unison with the movements of his lips and gestures.

* * * *

Next are heard Anna Case and Giovanni Martinelli, famous singers of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company. Their voices are perfectly timed to their pictures on the screen. Roy Smeck, "wizard of the strings" plays the banjo and ukelele and Mischa Elman, world master of the violin, is seen and heard. Then the program moved into its second phase, which is the showing of John Barrymore in "Don Juan."

Nobody speaks in this movie feature, but the picture is followed throughout by the Philharmonic Orchestra of New York City, an organization of 107 pieces led by Henry Hadley. Vitaphone was installed in the Grand Theater at a cost of $25,000 and the Grand holds the exclusive rights for Central Ohio. William M. James, after a battle with Warner Brothers got permission to make the lowest price for Vitaphone in the United States.

Gertrude Dion Magill played the part of a boy years ago with Frederick Warde, the great tragedian, in "The Mountebank." Now she is appearing every Tuesday night at the Xenia Opera House in rotary stock. Her husband, M. F. Ryan, for thirty-five years a lead and now a character actor and C. L. Tomlinson, formerly lead for fourteen months with the Bandbox Theater Stock Co., Springfield, are promoting the venture. Madge Joyce, who played leads in the East seven or eight years, is with the company and the other members are also professionals. The company is making its headquarters at Jamestown while introducing rotary stock in this section. Tuesday night the company offered "His Partner's Daughter," a comedy drama.

IS THERE NO RELIEF FROM SKIN TORTURE?

Must I Continue to Suffer the Unbearable Itching?

Are you one of those unfortunates who are going through life suffering with a skin disease, making you uncomfortable, making you less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in many forms of skin disease. Thousands of letters of gratitude prove its worth.

"I feel so happy for what S.S.S. has done for me that I want others to know about it. I suffered twenty long years from eczema. At times the itching was unbearable. During that time, I used all kinds of salves without receiving any real benefit. After taking six bottles of S.S.S., I was cured of this dreadful disease. I recommend S.S.S. to anyone suffering from eczema, because I cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me." Cleophas Forte, Soldiers and Sailors Home, Quincy, Ill.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause

XENIA'S FIRST AUTO SHOW

JANUARY 27-28-29

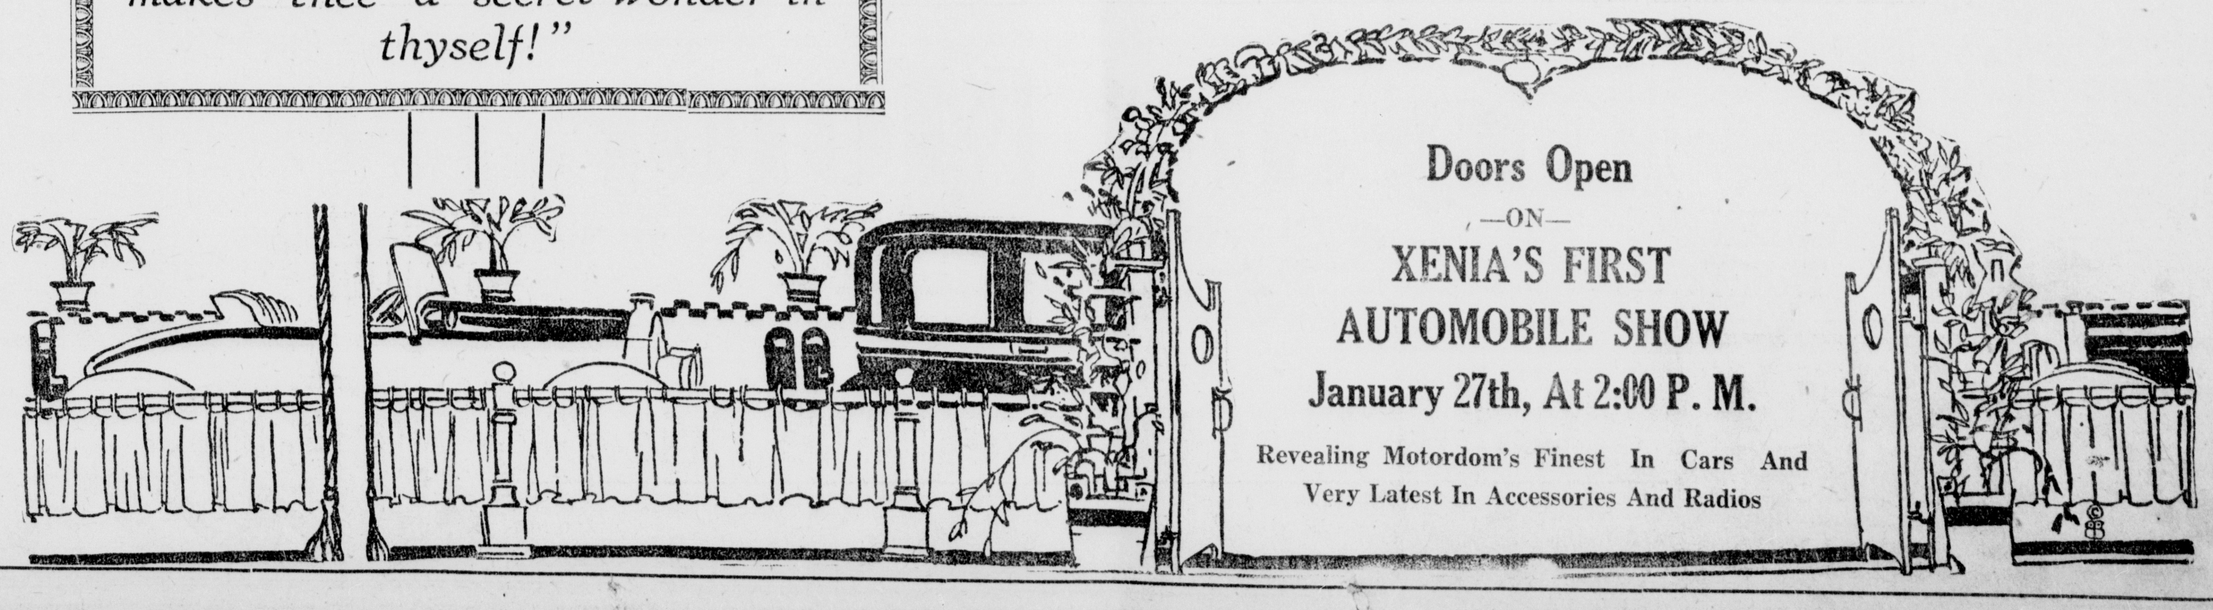

IN presenting to the people of Xenia and Greene County the first annual Automobile and Radio Show the business men of Xenia are again demonstrating the progressive, up-to-the-minute spirit which is characteristic of the men who are today making Xenia's history. It is another illustration of the real co-operation which has operated in years past to make Xenia one of the most attractive small cities in the state and which is now functioning in a very definite way to make Xenia one of the livest and best business cities to be found in Ohio.

Every resident of Xenia and Greene County is invited to be the guest of Xenia's Automobile and Radio dealers at this initial show. The choicest models that the year 1927 will have to show will be on display enhanced by artistic and beautiful settings. Music, delightful entertainments and the pleasure of meeting with the hundreds who will visit the show will combine to make it an event that will be well worth attending aside from the profitable information to be gleaned from the more practical features.

A manifestation of interest in these two greatest triumphs of modern science and invention is merely a proclamation of the progressive spirit of a community. Crowding the Automobile and Radio Show each day that it is in progress will simply prove that the people of Greene County are in step with the great forward movements of the day. The business men of Xenia honor you with an invitation to be present at this, their first annual Show. Plan now to accept the gracious invitation.

THE HOT PLATE VAPORIZER
Standard Ford Equipment

Ordinary carburetors were designed for a finer grade of gasoline than most people now buy. Today's gasoline must be burned differently to get full results. The Hot Plate Vaporizer pre-heats both raw gasoline and air making a perfect fuel mixture which burns to the last atom because it is perfectly vaporized.
Average results show an increase of miles per gallon, with excellent acceleration, abundant engine power, smoothness at all speeds, and practically no carbon deposit.
The Hot Plate Vaporizer applies exhaust heat to the fuel feed so that the engine is constantly supplied with super-heated vapor fuel of exceptionally high combustibility.

CHEVROLET OFFERS SMART NEW MODELS HERE AT AUTO SHOW

Surpassing all its former achievements as the world's largest manufacturer of three-speed transmission cars, the Chevrolet Motor Company, today, announces an entirely new line of automobiles, heralded as the most beautiful in Chevrolet history.

Embodied in the new line, which goes on display throughout the country today, are hosts of improvements, many of which were found hitherto only in larger and more costly cars. The economies of tremendous volume production have made possible the marks of distinction which individualize the new line, according to a factory statement.

The new cars are mechanically finer, entirely new in body lines, smarter in appearance, complete in equipment and outstanding in the display of colors. Seven models, five closed and two open cars, comprise the line. One model, a rakish, beautiful sport cabriolet has been added.

Some of the standard features on the new models are as follows: AC air cleaner, AC oil filter, balloon tires, bullet-type head-lamps and cowl-lamps, newly designed radiator shell, one piece full-crown fenders, heavier running boards, larger steering wheel, new instrument panel, new tire carrier assembly and co-incidental ignition and steering lock.

Beauty and refinement has been stressed in the design. Appointments have been catered to with a thoroughness that promises to please the most fastidious motorist. Succeeding the smoothest Chevrolet, the new line has been built to establish a new standard in the low price field.

All closed bodies are by Fisher and finished in Duco. The seven models are finished in five smart color combinations ,with contrasting color stripes emphasizing the body bead. "Fish-tailing," a crowning achievement of the designer's art, hitherto employed only on the more expensive cars, lends a striking appearance to the rear deck of the Coupe, Sport Cabriolet and Roadster. A reduction in the 'over-all' height of the cars without sacrificing head room, makes for a more racy contour.

A new and larger steering wheel seventeen inches in diameter provides for easier handling and adds to the appearance of the car as well. The new tire carrier is mounted on the frame, entirely free from the body and is braced in a vertical position by heavy steel brackets. A new gasoline gauge and a combination stop and tail light are standard equipment.

On closed models new and narrower windshield pillars greatly improve the vision permitting a commandng view of the road. Doors are equipped with remote control handles, making it unnecessary to turn far to the side in opening or closing the doors.

"Fish-tail" modeling ,emphasizing the streamline effect, is also used on the two passenger coupe. The body, window moulding and steel disc wheels of the coupe are finished in Biege brown Duco, with light chrome yellow striping. Blue corduroy upholstery harmonizes with the exterior finish. A spacious ledge is provided behind the seat for carrying small parcels. The rear deck is arranged into a compartment large enough to carry a full-sized steamer trunk.

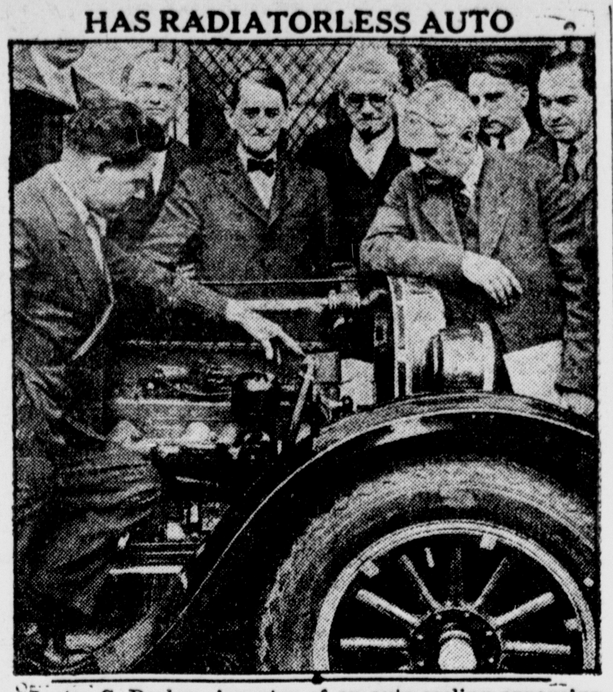

An equally generous compartment space is available on the roadster on which the "fish-tailing" effect is also emphasized. Finished in Falmouth Gray Duco, with streamline moulding and French Gray striping it discloses an interesting advance over the preceding model.

The new one-piece full crown fenders and bullet head-lamps give the touring car a distinct appearance of newness. Like the roadster it is finished in Falmouth Gray Duco.

The Chevrolet factories are now in production on the new models, with record shipments leaving every day for various parts of the country.

Lang Chevrolet Co., Green St., has the Chevrolet agency here and is exhibiting new models at the auto show, E. Third St.

HAS RADIATORLESS AUTO

Lester S. Barlow, inventor of an auto-cooling apparatus that eliminates radiators, is offering the government free use of the device, which it is declared will revolutionize automotive design. He is seen showing it to members of house military affairs committee.

PALESTINE SERIES AT BIJOU THEATER

Palestine as it was in the days of the Prophets and Shepherd Kings, and as it was when the Saviour trod its narrow paths and byways, will be shown in a series of twenty one-reel scenic pictures at the Bijou Theater, Green St., first of which will start Friday.

The series will be shown on consecutive Fridays. For years the Holy Land was unchanged and Pathe made these pictures before introduction of modern methods in the last few years. They can never be reproduced. The camera invasion preceded the period when Paris modes began putting ancient fashions to flight and pictures Palestine as it was in Biblical days, before progress began to change its customs.

Men and Women Everywhere Seldom Fail To Get Quick Relief From Pain And Suffering

When you've tried everything you can think of and nothing seems to even relieve those piercing, agonizing pains, just go to some good druggist and get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2 which comes in capsule form.

Take these little dark green capsules as directed and notice how in about twenty-four hours they have considerably reduced, if not entirely banished those persisting nerve racking pains that have caused you many sleepless nights.

While this particular formula was compounded for the purpose of conquering painful, Gouty conditions and what is known as Rheumatoid Arthritis—a knotty, painful swelling of the joints—it has proven wonderfully successful in most forms of Neuritis and Sciatic Nerve Pains.

You needn't be afraid of its containing dope of any kind—it doesn't. Such things are only makeshifts and can at the best give only partial relief.

Be sure you've got Neuritis and then get Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2—Sayre's Drug Store sells lots of it. —Adv.

In performance as well as appearance, the Essex Super-Six is an entirely new car.

It reveals the capacity of the Super-Six principle. It attains an engineering triumph in low maintenance and operating cost.

It possesses such stamina that 50 miles an hour all day long is an easy accomplishment. And so nimble and alert is its action that no car will surpass the quickness with which it may be driven through traffic or in touring, whether the trip is one of a few city blocks or hundreds of miles. Unusual accessibility means big savings in replacement, service and all shop work. Economy in fuel and oil is also a notable feature of the new Essex Super-Six.

It holds further exclusive advantages in its Super-Six motor. Four years of development has resulted in a chassis that would permit full use of its capacity. In the Essex Super-Six, performance, safety and reliability are realized to a degree never approached in a car of its size or price.

There are four new bodies on the Essex chassis—all beautiful, all smart in line, finish, appointment and upholstery. They are easily paramount values of Essex history.

WHAT to WEAR and HOW to WEAR IT

By LUCY CLAIRE
Favorite Fashion Adviser of the Smart Set.

Shoes—that inexhaustible and important subject about which we are always talking and yet never seem to arrive at a state of permanence!

I am convinced that, regardless of your clothes budget, a more generous allowance should be allotted to shoes than to any other single item of your apparel. You know there is a saying among the French women that "if the shoes do not go with the dress, then the dress is a failure." I have been brought to a realization of this wisdom many times and I know it is a consideration you can profit by as well.

First and foremost is the importance of your shoe material and a few words on that will suffice. As long as dressing continues to be a highly specialized art, shoes will be created to match these costumes. And as long as matching footwear is the vogue, kidskin will be its medium of expression for there is no other shoe material that approaches kid leather in range of colors, fineness of texture, or adaptability to patterns.

The new colors for spring are those which will complement dress colors. As usual, our old friend beige, disguised in new tints and new names, will lead the procession, closely followed by gray which is making a strong big for equal popularity.

The first range of colors in kidskin is known as pastel parchment, a delicate shade like the petals of a water lily; rose blush, the familiar tint of beige with a pinkish cast; stone, a color which reminds you of sand sparkling in the sunshine, and stroller tan, one of those rich golden brown shades. Shell gray, the most favored of the gray tones, has a marked silvery sheen and Spanish raisin is a continuation of winter's wine shades.

Although you can never go amiss in selecting a plain opera pump, for it is becoming to almost any type of foot, I have shown you today some of the newest patterns for spring, all of which feature novel and interesting strap arrangements.

The shoe in the upper left-hand corner is of stroller tan kidskin—distinctly a street and utility shoe as you will observe by its heavy alligator trimming of the same color and its general look of durability. Beside this I have shown a one-strap slipper of supple black kidskin with an interesting arrangement of overlapping scallops alternating black and beige.

The shoes shown in the center are obviously for afternoon wear, made so by their intricacy of pattern, shell gray kid leather, and fine silver pipings. This type of shoe as well as this color is a pleasing attribute to any afternoon costume.

Two tones of kidskin, pastel parchment and stone, combine into the smart center strap sandal shown at the left. You will notice what artful workmanship combines these two shades and how the continuity of color is carried to all parts of the shoe.

The two-strap slipper shown beside this is an excellent pattern, for narrow straps with small buckles fastening in the center of the instep are both new and becoming. The two small insets of leopard kid make an effective trimming on the background of rose blush kid.

These models cover all that is forecast for spring. A little later, I am going to tell you how to buy shoes by giving you some helpful information about leathers, lasts and designs.

My next article will complete this early forecast by taking up the subject of lingerie and negligees.

WILLYS FOURSOME SEDAN ATTRACTING ATTENTION AT SHOW

The Willys-Knight Foursome sedan, presented for the first time at the New York automobile show in January, is the latest addition to the line of Willys-Knight Great Sixes. This new model is totally new in design but adheres to the same quality features embraced in other models of the Great Six line.

The Foursome is mounted on the Great Six chassis which features a double drop frame and is equipped with Belflex spring shackles, front and rear, to provide quietness, spring flexibility, and eliminate vibration through absorption of road shocks.

The appointments of the Foursome are rich while the color combination of Magdalen blue below the belt and the black superstructure present a perfect blend.

The steel trunk at the rear adds a distinctive touch. Underneath is the fuel tank completely concealed from view although the cap for filling is within easy reach.

Interior of the Foursome carries out the quality aims of the makers. All metal trimmings, lifts and handles are of gun metal silver, Adams pattern, while the woodwork and inside finish is of inlaid Circassian walnut.

The graceful body lines give an individuality and dash to the car in its entirety which carries out the best features of the finest body engineering coupled with the latest ideas in quality motor car construction.

Upholstering is of Chase mohair with straps at the window sides of the same material.

A feature presented in the Foursome body construction is the use of a soft steel panel top which, according to the engineers, eliminates the rumble so noticeable in many types of closed cars.

Two features are carried out making for the comfort of the driver,—one is the new type of heel rest at the base of the accelerator while the other is an adjustable steering column. The position of the steering wheel may be set to accommodate the personal comfort of the driver.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

LONG, LOW, CLOSED AUTOS WILL BE SEEN ON ROADS THIS SUMMER

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Automobilists who can afford a new car in 1927 will take to the roads in long, low, closed cars, set well down to the ground and equipped with compact, powerful motors that can reel off the miles at almost any desired speed.

This was the indication seen in the latest models on display at the twenty-seventh annual National Automobile Show opening this afternoon. Three hundred models of forty-five makes of machines are constructed almost without exception along those lines. Also sixty-five models of twenty-one makes of trucks, indicating that automobile express service in the year will be carried mostly in lighter and faster machines, built for good roads that now connect the principal cities.

Few Radical Changes.

Few radical departures from 1926 models are noted. The lowered center of gravity in the passenger cars, long recognized by manufacturers, has been applied this year because of the increasing use of the closed car. The open, or touring, car is almost a thing of the past, the exhibits revealed.

In general, the makes have confined themselves to the conservative single color and combinations of not more than two tones. Among the duo-tones, the cream and green and green and black predominate, although some models have come forth in screaming and contrasting colors of greens, blues and reds.

Almost without exception the outer metals of copper, brass and aluminum have been left "en natural" and richly burnished, a reaction to earlier practice when automobiles glowed with trappings of brass and copper.

Luxurious Inside.

The 1927 machine is richly equipped inside with electric cigar lighters, vanity and writing cases and odd pockets for gloves and magazines. The dash board has become a simplified and artistic accessory with gasoline and motor heat indicators included on the board.

The important technical changes in the 1927 models are found mostly under the hood, the dealers said. They consist of devices for filtering the oil and gasoline and for cleaning the air before they are allowed to enter the motor. Quieter valve operation has been achieved; driving shafts have six and seven bearings instead of the usual three or four and are much heavier than usual.

Wheelbases range from 100 inches to 140 inches and improvements in the larger and more expensive models are built around the longer wheelbase.

WHIPPET OFFERING OF SIX-CYLINDERS FEATURED AT SHOW

Not since the introduction of the original Whippet car last June has such an interest been manifested in a new model automobile as that shown by the public in the new line of Whippet sixes, exhibited for the first time at the national auto show in New York City. The great favor being accorded this new type of light six car rivals the nation-wide interest displayed during the summer when the first Whippets, produced by Willys-Overland Company made their initial appearance. At that time automotive authorities admitted that the interest of the public had never been so aroused in America over the introduction of a new car.

Throngs have crowded about the new line of sixes which include a four-door landau, four-door sedan, two-door coach, coupe, touring car and sport roadster. Every inch of their trim, cruiser-like bodies are bearing a minute inspection, as well as the compact but powerful six-cylinder motors.

A close examination discloses that in the construction of the Whippet sixes the engineers have not departed from the original Whippet lines, the bodies being characterized by their low hung design and roominess. The hood, however, is longer and higher to accommodate the six-cylinder engine. This gives an added streamline effect.

The color combinations and appointments are in keeping with the general smart tone, with fittings of nickeled finish rounding out an attractive blend.

The presentation of this new line, places the Whippet Six in a classification entirely individual since there is no other car of the Whippet type on the American automobile mart.

The six-cylinder motor is compact and is built for power, speed, durability and fuel saving qualities. The makers claim it will develop a speed of sixty miles an hour and has power to climb steep grades in high gear. It is equipped with 4-wheel brakes.

Willys-Overland officials declare that the Whippet Six, with its performance of speed, power and economy is a new mark of achievement giving the Whippet a distinctive place in the four and light six-cylinder fields.

ESSEX IS OFFERING NEW FEATURES SEEN AT XENIA EXHIBIT

Construction changes in the Essex include several features of accessibility. Pistons can now be removed from the bottoms of the cylinders. The transmission may be demounted without disturbing the clutch. The Essex flywheel has a tempered steel ring shrunk around its rim. Clutches in both cars are of single-disc type, running in oil, but requiring no lubrication for thousands of miles.

The improved Essex engine runs with remarkable smoothness and is capable of 4,000 revolutions per minute. With an improved and highly developed splash lubrication system, ample oil is supplied to the engine at all speeds up to the maximum. Twenty pounds have been added to the flywheel and clutch assembly. This additional weight, plus close weighing and checking of all nuts greatly increases the smoothness of the engine.

The Huston-Essex selling organization now numbers 5,000 distributors and dealers, who in 1926 season sold approximately 250,000 cars—mostly coaches.

The N. N. Hunter agency, in charge of Horace Prince, is Essex agents here and is exhibiting new models at the auto show, E. Third St.

FORD SALES STILL GAIN; 1927 MODELS EXHIBITED AT SHOW

California is recognized as one of the leading automobile states in the nation.

Next of course to New York, California has the greatest number of automobiles of any state.

It is a striking and interesting feature to relate just how California has abided in the competition of the past year between the low priced car manufacturers.

For instance, Ford sales, for the first eleven months of the year in the Golden State showed a gain over the same period last year.

Contrasted to this is the fact that the next nearest car sales for the first eleven months of this year showed a drop as compared with the same period one year ago.

Ford Sales Gain

It seems that the Ford car delivered somewhat of a knockout blow in California, a State which is second in importance only to New York.

Here are the figures:

	11 Mos. 1926	1925
Ford	53,656	47,095
Second	23,556	26,166
Third	17,375	11,217
Fourth	19,307	13,756
Fifth	5,273	12,927
Sixth	7,037	11,895

The figures above show that some sales increased while others fell off sharply. Ford, of course, is ahead of last year. December is a slow month in California sales just as it is in other states and the totals compiled by the various manufacturers did not change the above ratio of sales to any notiveable degree.

Automobile sales in California showed a substantial falling off in sales for the eleven months of this year compared with the same month one year ago, where the southland's easy payment orgy was in full swing.

All new Ford models are being shown by The Bryant Auto Sales Co., Market and Green Sts.

STAR PROHIBITION AGENTS TO BE FIRED

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 27. —Possibly half a dozen "star" federal prohibition agents working out of the Cincinnati headquarters today were expected to get their "walking papers" following a conference here late yesterday between W. H. Walker, prohibition director of the Ohio district, and Sylvester Davis, chief of the local division.

Although no official announcement was made, it was reported that several cases of whiskey found their way to an operative's home and that nearby residents subsequently complained of an hilarious party.

STUDEBAKER LENDS BEAUTY TO INITIAL DEALERS SHOW HERE

With the announcement of a reduction of $200 in the price of the Studebaker Big Six Custom Brougham, this model now sells for the lowest price ever placed upon a Big Six four-door enclosed car, according to The Greene County Hardware Co., local Studebaker dealers.

The interior of this Custom Brougham provides all the custom luxury which the first glance at the car suggests. Seats are wide and deep with form fitting upholstery of fine Chase mohair with broadlace trim. Appointments include Butler finish hardware, dome light, toggle grips, and silken draw curtains at the wide rear windows. The body coloring is of Kinick green and Tuchi gray with black moulding and delicate Apple Green striping.

Many new features make for driving ease. Instruments—speedometer, ammeter, hydrostatic gasoline gauge, oil pressure gauge and engine thermometer are artistically grouped under glass and illuminated by indirect light. The no-draft ventilating windshield which may be tilted outward by a turn of a handle is an exclusive Studebaker invention and provides abundant ventilation without draft. The construction of this windshield allows for the admission of fresh air without moisture—even in severe rain-storms. The two-beam headlights are controlled by a switch on the steering wheel. Full vision is provided by the one-piece windshield and narrow roof pillars. A coninicidental lock to ignition and steering gear is controlled by the same key which operates the locks of the doors and the spare tire carrier.

Front and rear nickel-plated bumpers, balloon tires, disc wheels, snubbers and four-wheel brakes, which are standard equipment, insure safety and complete freedom from road shocks.

Flowing lines and the graceful contour of body, swung low on the chassis, impart a suggestion of fleetness matching the spirit of Atalanta, whose silvered figure adorns the radiator.

The Studebaker is appearing now at the auto show, E. Third St.

WHIPPET ROADSTER MAKING IMPORTANT PLACE FOR ITSELF

An important addition to the Whippet line of motor cars is the Willys-Overland presentation of a new sport roadster on this chassis. This body is shown for the first time at the 1927 automobile show in New York. Although the designers of the roadster adhere to the general stream-line effect characteristic of the Whippet group, this car offers notable innovations in the four-cylinder field.

It presents a racy and smart appearance with its low hung body sweeping back and ending in a graceful curve at the rear in which is mounted a rumble seat with sufficient room to accommodate two persons. This feature, the makers declare, has an appealing effect to the younger set as it permits of a chumminess between passengers in both front and rear. The roadster is equipped with an automatic windshield wiper. The backward slope of the one-piece windshield bears out the general contour lines.

Interior appointments are in keeping with the modern idea. The upholstering is of grey leather material. This blends with the body color scheme of Corson green below a red striping and Champlin green above.

As on all Whippets, four-wheel brakes are standard equipment, this being one of the safety features of this group of cars stressed by the makers. The radiator shell is of nickel and the bullet headlamps also have nickeled shells supported by a strong tie-rod.

The collapsible top is of a rubberized, durable fabric, and is easily raised or lowered. With top raised or folded back compactly at the rear the roadster presents a snappy appearance.

Plans have been made for a steady production of the roadster which officials claim will be one of the most popular of the Whippet group.
